COLORED MEETING.—Dr. R. L. King, colored evangelist, from Brooklyn, who recently returned from a stay of three years in Palestine, is assisting Pastor Tolbert in a ten-days' meeting at the C. M. E. Church.
DIDN'T TARRY LONG.—Considerable snipes and wild ducks came onto the meadows and creeks the fore part of last week, but the fine weather invited them to continue their flight north, so the local gunners had only a brief shy at them.
TRACING UP THE MATTER.—We are informed that our subscribers at Young's Springs have not received their papers for three weeks. Postmaster Barnes says he knows that the papers have left here properly directed to their destination and he will write to the postmaster at Salt Lake to find out if they reached there all right and were started on to Young's. The fault will thus be traced to where it belongs.
CIRCUIT CLERK'S MEETING.—Circuit Clerk J. J. Mark will go to Louisville next week to attend the State meeting of Circuit Clerks of Kentucky, which meets in Jefferson county Circuit Clerk's office April 4. Mr. Mark is Representative to that body from 21st Judicial district, and is candidate for Secretary of the meeting. If Mr. Mark is elected we can attest the fact that he will make an officer that will be a credit to the organization.
DIED IN KANSAS.—Word was received by relatives that Mrs. Minnie Zimmerman, wife of David Zimmerman, died at Olathe, Kansas, last week. Particulars of her death were not obtainable. Deceased was aged about 80 years and was a daughter of the late Wm. J. Honaker, of lower Pricklyash. She went West with her husband about twenty years ago. They had four or five children. She was a good woman and has many relatives and friends in this section, who mourn her death.
DIED IN ILLINOIS.—Mrs. Collier, wife of William Tinscher, died of consumption at Athens, Ill., Monday, March 27, and was to be buried for burial at the Aethion graveyard on lower Slate Creek at 4 o'clock p. m. Wednesday. Deceased's maiden name was Adams and she made her home with James T. Aethion, of lower Pricklyash, her mother, Mrs. Tinscher, 28, 1901. She was a sweet, Christian woman, loved by all. The bereaved ones have much sympathy in their loss.
LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.—Saturday Evening, March 25.—The tobacco market has again afforded an evidence of its ability to absorb large offerings of Burley without any great recession in prices, though there is no question but what values are somewhat lower than they have been of late, notwithstanding the healthier condition of the market noted at the close of the week. The tobacco coming to hand has shown some improvement in condition, and the sales have continued to tax the warehousemen and buyers to the fullest of their energies. The output of the new Burley offered during the week was not satisfactory. Common mixed trashes were possibly a few bids higher when any evidence of color were detected. The red trashes were irregular, the same being true of red tips and common leaf. Somewhat higher prices were noted for medium red leaf, and the good to fine varieties were firm. All of the better varieties of color grades were in excellent request at full prices. There was no change in the market for old Burley and offerings were very light.
Some demand was noted for old crop and starting grades of air-cured dark, but no change in prices. Fire-cured leaves were unchanged and leaf was possibly a shade easier. Extra lengths were wanted at good prices. Receipts of new dark have been light, due to causes generally known, but a movement is expected before long.
Sales of leaf tobacco for the week amounted to 4,295 hogheads, compared with 3,758 for the corresponding week last year, and 3,014 in 1903. All the Burley sold was new crop save 29. There were 800 hogheads of dark sold, of which 255 were old crop. Total sales in this market since Jan. 1 amount to 45,541, of which 36,393 were Burley and 9,148 dark. The total sales compare with 34,782 at this time last year. The gain is about 11,000 hogheads. Total sales of new crop to date amount to 42,669 hogheads, of which 37,362 sold at original prices. Rejections for the week were 483 hogheads of Burley and 154 of dark, the total being 637. For the week the percentage of Burley rejections was 14, 21 and 21 the total 15. Receipts this week were 3,458 and for the year to date 36,613, against 28,726 last year.—Courier-Journal.

"Oliver" means the best to be bought in chilled plows; has no equal. For sale by Byron Bros.
FOR REPRESENTATIVE.—Hon. Walter Sharp, of Sharpburg, announces himself as a Democratic candidate for Representative from the Bath-Rowan district. Mr. Sharp bases his claim to consideration particularly on these: It is Bath's turn in rotation to furnish the candidate; and his candidacy is in the interest of the tobacco growers.
He in former years was a prominent member of the General Assembly as a Senator from this district and has been an active worker in the Democratic party for many years. He is well known as a farmer and tobacco dealer on a large scale and was one of the directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association. His ability as a political orator is conceded by all.
MISS SALLIE SHULTZ'S DEATH.—Miss Sallie Shultz died in Mt. Sterling Wednesday evening, March 22. Funeral services were held the following afternoon by Rev. J. B. Meacham, after which the body was brought to the Owingsville Cemetery and interred about 4 o'clock p. m. Rev. J. B. Meacham, Wm. Hanley, Miss Mary Hanley and Mrs. Dallas Garner, of Mt. Sterling; Mrs. John R. Carmichael, of Louisville, and Mrs. Looney, of Lexington, were those from a distance at the burial.
Deceased was the daughter of Berry Shultz and was a native of this town, though living the greater part of her life at Sharpburg and Mt. Sterling. She was aged about 60 years.
She was the last survivor of her father's family, nearly all the family dying of consumption, with which disease she was affected for years, but by the exercise of her will power through her firm and consistent belief in the doctrine of the Christian Science society she stayed the ravages of the disease for some years, no doubt. She had been making her home with her cousin Mrs. Dallas Garner in Mt. Sterling for several months. She had many devoted friends and was highly esteemed. Her death is mourned by many friends in Bath and Montgomery counties, as well as elsewhere.
EXCERPT RUSSELL.—Saturday afternoon, March 25, a buggy driven by Henry Hopkins started some from up town, driving by herself in a buggy. On Main street about in front of Hyman's store the bug came out of one of the buggy shafts, setting it drop to n. The horse, who recently brought by Mr. Hopkins from Fleming county, immediately began running. Mrs. Hopkins is a fine driver and coolly braced herself to try to control the animal. Several persons down the street ran out to stop the horse, but succeeded only in making it sweeter and run the harder. There were a good many country people still in town with horses and vehicles along the street, and everybody up town ran out, expecting a fatal result from the runaway. All vehicles on Main street were passed and the turn at the corner of Sudbuth street safely made, when at the Water street crossing the horse turned up Water street, turning the buggy over and throwing Mrs. Hopkins out. She was stunned for an instant, but soon recovered and walked to a neighbor's home. She was somewhat bruised on the hip and shoulder, but not seriously hurt. She and her husband drove to town Sunday.
The horse ran into Curran Crounch's vehicle. Mrs. Hopkins' buggy was wrecked, but Mr. Crounch wasn't injured much.
After it was all over it was conceded by the spectators that if left alone Mrs. Hopkins probably could have controlled the horse finally. At any rate she displayed a wonderful nerve.

ture than a Democratic Congress. A Democratic Congress follows its impulses; a Republican Congress is guided by its judgment. Following its impulses, taking counsel of its anger, rather than its sagacity, the Fifty-third Congress destroyed the Cleveland administration and dealt a blow to the Democratic party that it is not likely to recover from for many years yet, and that has already paralyzed it in five national campaigns.
A Republican Congress is not going to do that; but it will give Roosevelt a licking if it can, without serious injury to the party.
There are several things to disagree about, and one is enough—the tariff. The President believes that the tariff ought to be reformed on protective lines, and that his friends ought to do it. This question would be paramount now as it was fifteen years ago if there were not so many other irons in the fire. This people will not tamely submit to the practices of some of our tariff barons, and when they get the time for the work those practices will be corrected. By construction of the Treasury Department the tariff on wheat is suspended in so far as it would operate injuriously to the foreign consumer of American flour, but that tariff operates oppressively against the American consumer of American flour. This is only one "incongruity" of a hundred.
Now Congress is a "standpatter." Mr. Roosevelt will so find it. Now England is going to be noisy and have a deal to say about free raw materials; but as long as Congress takes care of New England fisheries her Representatives will do nothing but talk, and it is little the Ways seven separate and distinct times since, and every time it has been "up." The Dingley rates are greater than the McKinley. The McKinley rates were greater than the commission. The commission rates were greater than the Daws. The Daws rates were greater than the Morrill, and so on and so on.

Here is the chance for a scrap and there would be a scrap over the tariff if there were not some other things to scrap about.
One of them is this debt collecting policy. Some of the Fifty-fifth Congress are making mouths and muzzles about that, and hoping that it may turn out to be most unpopular, as it is likely to. The Senate had done the administration all turn when the arbitration treaty was before it, and that was bound to result in a ligation. It was the Senate that led in the war against Cleveland, and it is a very ugly customer in a factional fight. Lincoln found it so, and so did Grant. So did Garfield, and he only contended against Conkling's friends. McKinley got along excellently with the Senate, but it was impossible to quarrel with him. Some of them did rebel against the Philippine annexation, but Bryan saved his bacon there.
Bryan was never more astonished in his life than when the effect of the treaty with Spain dawned on him. He believed that the people were latent on but one thing, and that to make him President of the United States. The truth is, there never was a moment of time that they had the slightest idea in the world of doing that. Bryan argued this way—"we must have peace so that I can get out of the army. The treaty will give us peace." Wil-
